Director of Children's Ministry, Full-time

First Presbyterian Church of Douglasville (www.fpcdouglasville.org)

Contact: james@fpcdouglasville.org

Summary:

Position: Director of Children's Ministry, First Presbyterian Church of Douglasville

Denomination: ECO: Covenant Order of Evangelical Presbyterians

Worship attendance: 400

Location: Douglasville, a western suburb of Atlanta

The role:

The role of the Director of Children's Ministry provides leadership and direction to an integrated ministry that partners with parents and the broader church family to successfully launch children into a lifetime of faith in Jesus Christ.

The church:

First Presbyterian Church exists to gather more people into the Kingdom of God and to help them become more like Jesus. Birthed in 1959 by a group of people who had a vision to take the gospel further into West Georgia, we've grown into a church with a passion for both traditional and contemporary worship, a compassion for people, and an intelligent pursuit of Jesus. Our children's ministry is a church-wide commitment, and, therefore, much of what we do, including worship, is intergenerational.

What you bring:

- A demonstrated relationship with Jesus Christ.
- Experience in leading children's ministry.
- A big vision for children's ministry.
- A passion for growing the faith of our church's children and connecting with our community's unchurched children.
- The ability to use social media and other technology.
- Possess leadership competence, clear vision, organizational skills, and people skills.
- A team player with a commitment to the overall success of the church's mission and vision.
- A posture of strength, approachability, and humility.
- Doctrinal positions consistent with those of First Presbyterian Church.
